

Sept. 8, 2007

Dear members of the Education For The Poor organization,

I would like to sincerely thank you for your concern about the young individuals in Hue through your summer project this year (2007). You have recognized the demand of the English proficiency in today's world and have responded to our immediate needs despite difficulties.

The English Conversation and Pronunciation program that you ran in Hue this year was a productive contribution. The participation of over 300 students reflects the value of this program. There is no doubt that this English training program tremendously benefited the students a lot in their academic pursuit. It would also help other students in their search for a better job in an attempt to achieve a stable life for themselves and to make useful contribution to the society.

I would also like to thank the program volunteers. I admire their generosity for sacrificing their precious summer for the poor, teaching them the skills to listen, read, understand, and write English under the heated weather.

I'm also very happy to see that EFTP has managed to build a bridge of relationship that connected the Vietnamese young individuals from both sides of the ocean.

Once again, on behalf of the youth in Hue, I would like to thank the EFTP organization and its volunteers wholeheartedly.

Archbishop of Hue,
Stephano The Nguyen
